"Our Legacy"

Anna Elden Brady and Jessica Sheldon

Travel through time as we visit our Unitarian heritage, our Universalist beginnings, how they came together in Muskegon to create the legacy our community has inherited. What will be the legacy we pass on to those HUUC's who come after us?

February 9

"Clinton, Trump, and God and Judgement"

Rev. Brent Smith

At one time in the 1990's the percentage of Unitarian Universalists who believed in the afterlife was around 3%. Hear from one of those 3% as he tells of his spiritual journey, and how once Clinton and now Trump have brought him deeper into his views of God and the afterlife!

"Be Who You Are: My struggle with Finding Balance"

Carolyn Holmes explores the conflicting tendency to "SHOULD" on herself while trying to be authentic. Can self-care, self-awareness, and self-knowledge benefit our world?

"Living into the Both/And's of Life and Death"

Kristy Harris-Stewart

We experience moments of joy and moments of sorrow, often at the same time. How do we move beyond the binary of either/or and live into the both/ands that life offers us?

*Please submit information for the Sunday Order of Service
by Thursday 5PM before the service to

Greetings from the Coordinator of Religious Education: Kim Burr

What's up with the kids?

The last Sunday of December we celebrated Kwanzaa and sang a song in the service. Then downstairs to create our Tropical Fruit Salad. They did a great job at cutting bananas and made a snowy mess with the coconut.

January brought a couple of Sundays of tough weather and no children. However, on Sunday January 26th we had a full crowd with us painting cherry blossoms or whatever. Ms Kim accidentally sits on Abby's wet painting that was temporarily on the couch. Well ...the back of my jeans were quite colorful and the kids plus me to had a rip roaring laugh.

See You Sunday!
Ms. Kim
